To the reflecting mind few popular quotations are so essentially false, or reveal so narrow a view of life as the often cited lines - How small, of all that human hearts endure, That part which kings or laws can cause or cure! Since the origin of society, each unit of our race has struggled on in his allotted path, through joys and griefs, fashioned, for the most part, by the invisible network of habits, customs, and statutes, which surround him on every side, and silently shape his daily actions. Thus the history of jurisprudence becomes the history of the life of man, and the society of distant ages is more distinctly presented to us in the crabbed sentences of codes than in the flowing rhetoric of the historian. Slender as may be the respect with which we of...
